

Mann Chandavimol MD FRCPC, FESC, FAsCC, FAPSIC

Ramathibodi Hospital, Mahidol University, Thailand

Dr. Mann Chandavimol specializes in Interventional Cardiology with special interest in Structural Heart Intervention.

Dr. Mann graduated from Chulalongkorn University Medical School in Thailand. He went on to do his fellowship in The University of British Columbia where he was certified by The Royal College of Surgeons and Physicians of Canada and by the American Board of Internal Medicine for Internal Medicine and subsequently, in Cardiology. He then moved to Saint Paul's Hospital, Vancouver to complete his fellowship in Intervention Cardiology and subsequently, Heart Failure and Heart Transplantation.

Dr. Mann returned to serve Thailand as an Interventional Cardiologist at Ramathibodi Hospital – Department of Medicine Mahidol University and Samitivej Sukhumvit Hospital. Today, he is also the Director of Center of Excellence Heart and Director of Heart Institute in Samitivej Sukhumvit Hospital. Dr Mann also lead the TAVR program at Ramathibodi Hospital. He also has special interest in TPVR, valve in valve/ring procedures, Left atrial appendage occlusion, and other transcatheter ACHD intervention.

Dr. Mann has served as Scientific Chair and Course Director/Co-Director of many different conferences and workshops through the years, including CSI Asia Pacific, the International Adult Congenital Cardiology, Mahidol TAVI and Transcatheter Pulmonic Valve Implantation Workshop. He has also served as a President the Cardiovascular Interventional Association of Thailand (CIAT) and Secretary of the Thai PCI registry.

Dr. Mann has published over 35 papers in various journals including Circulation AHA/ASA journals. He has also presented at various local, regional and international conferences including American College of Cardiology Congress (ACC), European Society of Cardiology (ESC), Transcatheter Cardiac Intervention (TCT), PCR London valve and PCR Tokyo valve.

